

SAKIS MELIOPOULOS

Professor Meliopoulos was born in Katerini, Greece. He attended the National Technical University of Athens, Greece, where he earned the Diploma in Electrical and Mechanical Engineering in 1972.

He then attended Georgia Tech where he earned his MSEE (1974) and Ph.D. (1976) degrees. He joined the faculty of Electrical Engineering in 1976. Dr. Meliopoulos helped the development of the power program at Georgia Tech by contributing to the modernization of existing courses, introducing new courses, initiating research activities and developing continuing education programs.

Professor Meliopoulos consults with industry on a variety of problems. His hobbies include running, soccer and music.