

KEN REID, Ph.D.

Ken Reid is in his second year as the Director of Freshman Engineering at Ohio Northern University and an Associate Professor in Electrical and Computer Engineering and Computer Science. Prior to arriving at ONU, he taught in Electrical and Computer Engineering Technology for over 12 years at IUPUI. He recently became the 7th person in the U.S. to receive a Ph.D. in Engineering Education from Purdue University. He has been active in the IEEE-USA Precollege Education Committee for nearly 10 years. He has written numerous articles on engineering education, issues in K-12 education and successful classroom techniques, and has co-authored a textbook in Digital Electronics. The middle school curriculum he co-developed entitled "The Tsunami Model-Eliciting Activity" was awarded Best Middle School Curriculum by the Engineering Education Service Center for 2009.
